in whose sacred memory the college was founded in 1967

Chairman's Message

Seth Sudarshan Kumar Modi

Chairman
Managing Committee
Multani Mal Modi College, Patiala

I feel extremely delighted and proud to convey my best wishes on the publication of our college magazine 'The Luminary' which serves as a rostrum to accentuate the literary and artistic segment of the Modi College fraternity.

Education in the true sense is a facilitative process enabling the accretion of knowledge, skills and values. The college and its teachers have a greater role to play in preparing the students to face the challenges of life by providing a conducive environment for intellectual and moral edification. One of the most significant character traits that need to be instilled in our youth during their education is a finely ingrained attitude of putting one's service before one's own self. Our motto is to provide adequate guidance so as to make them conscious of their duties and responsibilities toward humanity.

Through the prestigious columns of our magazine, students get an opportunity to pen down their thoughts and aspirations and make the people around them know about the glory of their institution. The role of a magazine is therefore vital in promoting what an institution offers. It reflects the inherent talent that the students possess in churning out creative compositions and unleashes a wide range of artistic expression in the fields of writing, editing and designing. I urge the learned readers to explore their inner talents and thereby transform the world into a beautiful place. You, the young minds, possess the capability to revolutionise the dismal surroundings through your contemplations.

Commendations to the Principal Dr. Khushvinder Kumar, Editor-in-Chief Dr. Baljinder Kaur and the members of the Editorial team for their laudable work. I also extend my heartfelt felicitations to our budding writers who have shared their thoughtful insights through this magazine.

I wish you all the success and happiness for your future.

Principal Speaks

Dr Khushvinder Kumar
Principal
Multani Mal Modi College, Patiala

It gives me immense pleasure to pen a few words as a prologue to our in-house magazine 'THE LUMINARY'. True to its name, the magazine gives a clear insight into the Modiites' way of life, their ingenuity and accomplishments and is a platform that unveils the literary skills and innovative ideas of the teachers and students. To its readership, the college magazine is a veritable goldmine of ideas, reflecting on our glorious achievements, shaping our understanding of the present and introspecting on the prerequisites to meet the challenges of a secure future.

Multani Mal Modi College is a sterling academic institution, where education is a holistic and formative process. Our aim is to inculcate a love of knowledge in our students and to develop a proclivity of lifelong learning. To accomplish this, each year our team of editors, designers, photographers, and student contributors, in addition to generating creative content from the student body, work extensively to report on events in and around college. The final publication reflects and encompasses the diversity inherent to the various academic and co-curricular activities held in the college.

The written word is arguably the most potent and influential tool humanity has ever created. Writing sanctions the sharing of ideas, memories, events, stories, and other facades of the human experience in a manner completely unmatched by anything else. It allows for the communication of complex ideas and concepts, which is critical for the development and growth of our complex and assorted, cultures, beliefs, sciences, and technologies. Yet perhaps more significantly, the written word connects humans to each other in unparalleled ways. A thought that has been brewing in the mind, when it becomes tangible on paper; is truly an exciting experience. I urge the students to be keen observers, socially sensitised and politically vigilant citizens and express their ideas and opinions through the creative process of writing. By writing for the magazine, a student leaves behind an indelible mark of their passing through the hallowed gateways of this temple of education.

I would like to take this opportunity to laud the efforts of the Editor-in-Chief as well as the Editorial team of our college magazine, 'The Luminary' for motivating the students and for screening their creations. They have managed to put together a brilliant smorgasbord of achievements and memorabilia of the college in the academic session 2017 to 2018. I congratulate and appreciate the efforts of all the students and staff members who have contributed into the making of this issue.

From the desk of Editor-in-Chief

Dr. (Mrs.) Baljinder Kaur
Editor-in-Chief

It gives me immense joy and satisfaction to bring out another publication of our college magazine entitled "The Luminary" for the academic session of 2017-18. All through the years of Multani Mal Modi College being the unrelenting lodestar in scholastic excellence, our college magazine has been instrumental in realizing, capturing, harnessing, and directing the potential of its scholars towards creative endeavours. It has always served as an annual compendium encompassing the diversity inherent to the academic and co-curricular spaces in our college. Moreover, its prime focus has also been to highlight events and noteworthy issues taking place within our institution. It's also always aimed to teach the students to keep abreast with as well as navigate through the socially constructed labyrinth comprising current events, popular culture, academics, etc. In fact, I exhort our newest crop of scholars to look at the various literary contributions of our college's alumni and vow to cultivate essential real-world skills such as collaboration and creativity so as to similarly develop engaging and well-rounded personalities.

Leo Tolstoy has aptly opined that "One of the first conditions of happiness is that the link between man and nature shall not be broken". Hence I would like all Modiites to pledge their allegiance to social and ecological causes that shall prove to be beneficial for society in the long run. For instance, taking part in the Cleanliness Drive outlined by the government can be each student's essential step as a socially responsible citizen. Furthermore, everyone should take initiative and lend their support to various social causes like generating awareness for the importance of education, raising funds for the homeless, donating surplus utilities to the underprivileged, spending their time taking care of the elderly population, etc. I also urge our students to participate in conscious social activism for it sparks conversation and ignites change leading to better alignment of practices and policies with the wishes and needs of the people.

As the Editor-in-Chief of 'The Luminary', I sincerely hope the magazine continues to both sustain and expand its reach as a truly representative student publication. I wish that our scholars consistently use the platform that this magazine provides as an outlet for exercising their imagination. To conclude, I am beholden to the worthy chairman Seth Sudarshan Kumar Modi, Principal Dr. Khushvinder Kumar and the editorial team comprising teachers, students and other contributors for their diligent efforts to make this issue more cerebral and multifaceted. We wish to preserve as well as build on this ethos just as much during the upcoming academic years.
